(8) Where a work permit is granted in respect of the gainful occupation of a person, the earlier gainful occupation of whom had been authorised by a previous work permit, such grant shall not give rise to any right to, or any expectation of a right to, any further new work permit thereafter, and the Board or the Chief Immigration Officer may, in any case, refuse an application for such further new work permit without any right arising to the applicant concerned to appeal against such refusal either to the Immigration Appeals Tribunal or the Grand Court on the grounds that the previous grant gave rise to any right or expectation of any right to a further work permit.

(9) Where a person has been continuously authorised by a gainful occupation licence or a temporary gainful occupation licence granted under any earlier law, or a work permit, to be gainfully employed and by virtue of such authorisations he or any other person has been lawfully legally and ordinarily resident in the Islands for any period which is one of the qualifications for application for a grant of the right to be Caymanian or the right permanently to reside in the Islands, such residence shall not of itself give rise to any right or expectation of a right to such a grant.

(10) An application for the grant or renewal of a work permit may be refused and a work permit may be revoked on any of the following grounds-

- (a) that there is refusal or inability on the part of the applicant and his spouse, if relevant, to properly support his dependants;

 - (j) that, in respect of an application for a temporary work permit, the Chief Immigration Officer is of the opinion that the number or frequency of temporary work permits previously obtained or continuing to be sought in respect of a worker suggests more than temporary employment and constitutes a deliberate attempt to circumvent the operations of the provisions of section 52(1) and (20); or
 - (k) that the applicant failed to give the written undertaking referred to in section 42(4)(b).
- (10) Prior to the revocation of, or refusal to renew, a work permit-

(2) Where applicable, the worker nominated by his employer under this section to be a key employee may, upon the expiration of his final work permit issued under section 52(1) or (4) or his fixed-term work permit, continue to work on the terms and conditions of his final work permit or his fixed-term work permit unless and until such time as the Board denies his employer's application to designate the worker as a key employee under subsection (4).

(3) Any time spent by a worker within the Islands after the expiration of his final work permit under section 52(1) or (4) or his fixed-term work permit pending the decision of the Board pursuant to subsection (4) shall not be taken into account by the Board in determining his length of legal and ordinary residence in respect of an application for permission to reside permanently in the Islands under section 30 in the event the Board denies the employer's application to designate the worker as a key employee.

(4) Before the Board can designate a worker as a key employee, the employer shall, at the time of such application, provide such particulars as to satisfy the Board that the worker fulfils one or more of the following requirements and if so satisfied the Board may designate the worker as a key employee after taking into account such particulars, if any, under section 44(3) or (4) as relate to the application-

- (g) the circumstances of his particular case are considered by the Board to be exceptional and to justify a special reason to employ him or to allow him to be designated as a key employee.

(5) Where a worker is designated as a key employee by the Board pursuant to subsection (4), upon application by his employer for renewal of his work permit, a presumption shall exist in favour of renewals until that worker has reached his term limit save that such a presumption may be rebutted-

- (a) by any findings under section 44(4)(a), or section 48(9) and (10); or shall designate the worker as a key employee and afford him such benefits as are prescribed in subsection (5).

(7) Notwithstanding section 15, any decision of the Board under subsection (4) or (6) to deny the designation of an employee as a key employee shall be final and binding and no appeal shall lie from a decision of the Board.

(8) Where the Board has refused an application to designate an employee as a key employee, the employer may no sooner than three months thereafter re-apply in respect of the same employee to have him so designated.

(13) A person working under subsection (12) whose spouse is granted permanent residence under section 30 and who has applied for a Residency and Employment Rights Certificate as a dependant of his spouse will not lose his right to work and may continue to be granted work permits until the final determination of his application where that application was submitted within ninety days of the grant of his spouse's permanent residence.

(14) Where a work permit has been granted to a worker under subsection (11) and his spouse ceases to have the right to work and is required to leave the Islands under the provisions of this section, the work permit granted shall automatically terminate on the date on which his spouse ceases to have the right to work and the worker shall himself leave the Islands and not be entitled to the grant or renewal of any further work permits until he has ceased to hold a work permit for not less than one year after he has left the Islands.

(15) The Board or the Chief Immigration Officer, in calculating under subsection (12)(d), the period of time that an applicant has spent apart from his spouse, shall not take into account those occasions when either spouse's absences

(16) Where a person appeals against the decision of the Board or the Chief Immigration Officer in respect of this section, the relevant Board or the Chief Immigration Officer having determined that by virtue of the expiration of his term limit, it had no power to grant or renew his work permit, any period that he spends in the Islands thereafter while awaiting the outcome of his appeal shall not be taken into account by the Caymanian Status and Permanent Residency Board in determining the length of time for which he is considered to have been legally and ordinarily resident in the Islands for the purposes of an application under section 30 for permission to reside permanently in the Islands save and except to the extent that his appeal is wholly or partially successful.

(17) The Chief Immigration Officer's decision in relation to the grant or refusal of the application for, or the revocation of, a fixed-term work permit is final and binding.

(3) In order to determine whether an application under this section should be granted or refused or a temporary work permit revoked, the Chief Immigration Officer shall have regard to the criteria enumerated in sections 44(2)(a), (3) and (4) and 48(9), with the necessary modifications.
